REACTIVATORS & REMOVERS

Reactivator is a blend of solvents similar to the ones used in the industrial quick dry ink you are using for your application. The reactivator is used to replace the solvents that evaporate from the ink in the pad over time. When your pad becomes dry or sticky, for the first few applications you will add additional ink. After your 3rd or 4th ink application you will then add the Reactivator. The Reactivator should be added and worked into the pad for a continuous quality impression. You can "work" in the ink with a small spatula or piece of plastic. When the pad becomes sticky again you add more reactivator. As the impression becomes faint you add more ink to your pad.

Ink colors shown may not match true ink hue. Additional specialty inks such as invisible ink, lumber inks, skin inks, food approved ink are available by contacting us directly. Additional information on these and all SREI inks is available www.gloverstamp.com including MSDS and SDS sheets.

Specify your ink type when ordering.
